About Us:

Organized in 1985, the Wisconsin Aviation Hall of Fame, Inc. (WAHF) is the result of an idea by Carl Guell. Formerly employed by the Wisconsin Aeronautics Commission (now the Department of Transportation, Bureau of Aeronautics), Guell began collecting the state's aviation history. Encouraged by the wealth of information he discovered through interviews and research, Guell incorporated the Wisconsin Aviation Hall of Fame. The organization made its first induction of three Wisconsin aviation legends less than a year later.

The volunteer organization continues to grow and depends on member/supporters to achieve its mission and goals. In its short history, WAHF has recognized over 150 men and women with inductions, published an award-winning aviation history book (3800 copies were given to state libraries), and provides significant scholarship opportunities to our state's top aviation students.

Your membership is not just a statement of support but also an investment in preserving and sharing the awe-inspiring achievements of aviation pioneers. Join us as we make an enduring impact on the world of aviation in our state.
